Reminders & updates

WCPSS Parent/Student handbooks are now available online at: <http://www.wcpss.net/student-parent-handbook>.

Important information regarding a change in bus procedures can be found on the back of the newsletter. We reviewed these new procedures in class and watched a video but I encourage you to go over this with your child at home as well.

A big thank you to everyone who has donated materials from our wish list or donated extra school supplies. We are still in need of baby wipes - if you are able to donate some it would be greatly appreciated.

A monthly behavior chart started coming home last week. Students have the opportunity to earn 3 points everyday for following work habit and conduct expectations. Not meeting these expectations (ex: talking out, not completing homework, not attending to instruction) will result in the student not earning one or more of their points for that day. Students keep track of points earned with magnets that they keep on their desks.

I was out on Friday so we will send home Friday Folders on the 24th. Please make sure you sign and return the folders the following school day.

CURRICULUM

Math: We are learning about various addition and subtraction strategies that will be used throughout the year as we start to work with double and triple digit addition and subtraction equations.

Language Arts: We will be working on describing the structure of a story and asking/ answering questions about a story. Students will be introduced to what Daily 5 looks like this year as well as increasing their reading stamina. mClass Reading assessments will be taking place during the first few weeks of school. More information will be sent home when testing is complete.

Social Studies: Students will be learning about the roles and responsibilities of citizens and the purpose of a government. They will also be expected to exemplify respect and appropriate social skills needed for working with diverse groups.
